POWERFUL WAVES Are Coming in DECEMBER Dave Clements

Dr David Clements, Kyle Boyd

POWERFUL WAVES Are Coming in DECEMBER - Dave Clements on 3I ATLAS and Humanity's Next Shift

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q4JN0U0wg5I 110m 10-24-2025

A series of very powerful waves are coming, beginning this December and continuing through 2026. This is the urgent message from the guides of physicist-turned-channel, Dr. David Clements.

In this profound interview with the Heart Coherence Collaborative, Dr. Clements shares the stunning science and spiritual wisdom he's received. Discover the mind-blowing experiments that prove light can rewrite DNA, why the rules of physics break down at the quantum level, and the truth about advanced civilizations living in crystalline cities inside the Earth.

This is a masterclass in understanding our multi-dimensional reality and a critical preparation guide for the immense energetic shifts on our immediate horizon. As the guides say, this is a "grand experiment," and you are a vital part of it.

KEY MOMENTS & SCIENTIFIC REVELATIONS:
00:00:00 - Welcome & A Grand Experiment
00:01:54 - The Truth About DNA Activation & Our Multidimensional Nature
00:02:45 - MIND-BLOWING SCIENCE: The Experiments That Prove Light Can Rewrite DNA

00:10:58 - The Difference Between Macro & Quantum Physics Explained
00:16:49 - INNER EARTH: The Truth About Beings in Crystalline Cities
00:25:24 - The Truth About Sasquatch (And Their Complex Language)
00:26:43 - From Hardcore Scientist to Mystic: Dave's Full Awakening Story
00:33:15 - A Message on Comet 3I/ATLAS: "Just Wait and See"
00:34:24 - THE PROPHECY: An Urgent Message for December 2025 - 2026
00:48:02 - The #1 Tool to Get Centered: Rhythmic Breathing
00:51:07 - Why You MUST Clear Your Emotional Charge (A Critical Healing Key)
00:59:59 - What's Causing The Global Sleep Disturbances?
01:04:40 - Why I'm a "Retired Manifestor"
01:06:41 - The Mind (Polarity Generator) vs. The Heart (Zero Point)
01:09:30 - Past Lives & The #1 Mistake Spiritual Seekers Make (Identity)
What Is The Ultimate Purpose of Life?
A Live Channeled Message from The Arcturians, Syrians & Pleiadians
01:47:37 - How to Get in Touch with Dr. Clements' Work
#DrDavidClements #SpiritualScience #Prophecy #NewEarth #InnerEarth #Consciousness #SpiritualAwakening #DNAactivation #HeartCoherence

Welcome & A Grand Experiment

DAVY: The Inner Earth beings for example, they live in crystalline cities. The literal material is living in itself and it's conscious.
KYLE: What's your take on Sasquatch?
DAVY: We've been walking in trails here, we've heard them. The language was very complex. You could hear just so many different levels of tone, structure and the linguistics. It was quite phenomenal actually.
LEAH: What is 3I Atlas?
DAVY: It's changing orbits and changing its direction in particular ways which is not characteristic of a dead lump of rock just floating through space. When I press my team space, is there anything that you can offer us to what it is, they just wait and see? Starting December, all the way through 2026, there's going to be a series of very powerful waves stepping up and they'll reach their crescendo. The waves that are coming in, you'd be quite extraordinary and quite powerful. And so they're saying this is preparation work. And they're saying “When we say grand experiment, we do not say that phrase lightly”. If you want to connect with your high self, it's here. If you want to connect with your soul vessel, it's here. Okay, so are a number of groups here. There's my high self, of course, the Arcturians are here. And interestingly the Syrians are here. They don't often pop in publicly.

LEAH: I'm a retired manifester.
DAVY: Right.
KYLE: That's a really interesting way of saying it. I'm just curious, your thoughts on sleep. Is there stuff going on at a genetically that's causing people to sleep less? And then what can we do about it as it's like?
DAVY: Wow, where do I start with this one?
KYLE: Welcome everybody to the Heart Coherence Collaborative. Today is such an amazing day because two reasons. One, we have our good friend Dave Clements back with us. So welcome back, Dave. And too, Leah is rejoining us after a little hiatus. So I have told her so much about Dave and for her to come back, there's no one else I'd rather have her come back to than Dave. So this is a great year for me. Very blessed.

The Truth About DNA Activation & Our Multidimensional Nature

So a lot of healers that we've been talking about have said that there's a DNA activation going on right now. Is that something that your guides are sharing as well? And if so, could you explain that?
DAVY: Yes, well, there are many levels because you see to break it down. Again, what my teams have shared with me is that DNA, what we know is the physical component of DNA, the two-stranded system, the helix, is just one component of a multilayered system that itself is literally multidimensional. So DNA plays a whole host of different roles. You know, if you ask a biologist, it's just, oh, it's just a protein coder does this and travels itself at codes proteins, sends stuff all over the place and that's how you're in a nutshell in a very simplistic, overly simplistic way the body works.

MIND-BLOWING SCIENCE: The Experiments That Prove Light Can Rewrite DNA

But there are some very interesting experiments that were done by a guy called Peter Gariaev, a Russian scientist, and he was playing with the idea of light being a transmissive information sort of field or packets of light that we call photons within the light field, carrying information that could be active. And I'll come back to your question in a sense, but I just want to give this contrast because it will really help people. And that is what he did is he took two hermetically sealed containers, one with frog embryos and one with salamander embryos. I'm pretty sure I've got the species right.

But he was shining a laser through one into another. And bear in mind, these are developing embryos. They weren't formed yet. They were just embryonic. And so what happened is that he noticed when he would shine a laser light through one and it would light onto the other, that other species would start to change genetically and morph itself to the species of the first embryos he was shining the laser through. In other words, light was carrying the genetic information with it from one species to another. And the DNA was morphing and changing itself accordingly. Wow. It's pretty cool. I was saying I can become a frog.

KYLE: Are you saying I can become a frog?

DAVY: Well, I think there's something very special that happens at the embryonic stage. Now the DNA seems to be, I mean, I don't know for sure. I'm just calling it a perspective here. It seems that something is very profound at the embryonic development stage. And as it develops into a fetus and then is born, it's almost like that changes. That's not possible in the same way that we understand it there. I could be wrong, but that's my own perspective. Essentially, the other experiment he did, and I say this because my teams have given me a lot of information which this Russian scientists experiments confirm. And the other one was he was shining light in DNA helixes. And what he found is the light would coil up and down it. It would stay in the helix. Now the interesting thing was when he removed the DNA samples, the light was still coiling as if the DNA was still there, which was pretty cool stuff.

So to me, what it says, it shows is that there really is this multi-dimensional energetic component which we're never taught about in school, whatever you want to call it. That is just not information that is given. It's all just structural, Lego-like blocks. They function like this. It uncoils. It codes proteins and that's it basically. And all you have to do is map the particular elements of the DNA helix and then you pretty much understood what it's doing.
To me, what my teams have been showing is that no, it's a multi-dimensional field or an aspect of a multi-dimensional field. And it receives information multi-dimensionally and it can transmit as well and it can change its form in many different ways, multi-dimensionally. So when you mention DNA upgrades, that's a whole bag of possible levels of changes that are going on. So it's a very huge subject in of itself. But yes, essentially the more we evolve, the more that we are ready to assimilate high dimensional information and to become more merged with our higher self or multi-dimensional self, our DNA is going to change accordingly with that. At least that's the information I've gleaned from my teams.
And it's very one to one that your DNA will change itself according to your level where you are right now. And sometimes we get little bumps and jumps forward. So when certain energetics come towards the Earth and certain sort of flares are going off, they carry with them a lot of very advanced coding and when you bathe in them, you absorb them, you assimilate them. Suddenly that coding sort of unfolds and it starts to blossom you in a particular direction. And a lot of time that is updating, changing what we call the DNA. But it's the whole spectrum. So it's the whole multi-dimensional component, not just the physical aspect as well. So it's a massive subject in and of itself. But I hope I've kind of like I've boiled it up a little bit.
KYLE: Yes, the implications of that are mind blowing. And I was just thinking I was talking to the lady who owns the house we live at. And she carried an embryo from a donor. But would that almost become her if she can shed her light into that process while it's inside of her, kind of like the salamander and the frog like could it morph more into her during that process? The implications pretty huge for that, you know.

DAVY: It is. Yes, I mean, there's a lot of factors or questions of unknown there. I mean, the intensity of the laser might have been such a substantial level of light that it had such an impact. So there are a lot of questions like that. But reaching back to what some of the masters in ancient texts could do, for example, they could hold out their hand and literally create matter in the palm of their hand.

So when you get to a certain level of connection with your high self, you then get access to some pretty funky stuff your ability to reach in and change the fundamentals of what you see outside of you as matter or fully for matter become possible. And I believe those are examples of these beings having such a connection that those, let's call them in humanity, latent abilities right now, but those abilities come forward and then you can access and use them.

A little bit like when the story of Yeshua who held up at a very dead stick is completely dead it was lying on the ground, held it up. And then suddenly by infusing Source Intelligence into it to such a level, suddenly leaves spontaneously grew on it and became living again. Because that to me is the real thing. It's the living aspect of Source Intelligence is what does all the magic it's what orders everything. It's what brings things into particular harmonious states. It's what spontaneously grows things. It can develop anything. It can change the very fundamentals of matter just by your very focus.

So long as you have sufficient connection with it to do that, it's a little bit like saying if you want to do some cool things with water, well, how open is your faucet? You know, it's very similar. It’s how open is your core, your heart center. And that's where it that's where it comes from. That is the seat point of your direct connection with Source Intelligence and the more open that you can be. And in a way, it's very similar to when you look into the eyes of a newborn baby, they are beaming with quite a significant level of that love intelligence within them.

But then pretty soon as the whole growing up as an indoctrination process starts that light starts to dim away and then suddenly access starts to start to dim. So yes, I would say to anyone, it's really, and that's really the journey I'm personally on and that I love to share with others is that that message that is that it really is that you have everything in your core and your heart center.

Now the question is, do you choose to open that up, connect and rebridge and remember? And it's funny the word remember because member, remembering together is bringing together and you're remembering that so it's almost like you're re-bridging again to that which having chosen to be in this experience of what would it be like to experience a severe apparent separation from Source. You can never truly do it, but you can experience the illusion of that, but it can be quite strong illusion as we all know.
But when you start to re-bridge again and undo those commitments to have that experience and allow the bridge to open again, suddenly everything starts to change. And that's the magic.

The Difference Between Macro & Quantum Physics Explained

LEAH: I'd love for you to talk about why there seems to be a difference of the rules of science at the macro level and then at the quantum level. And I have this funny humorous story, but I don't really believe it's true. But like whenever I know nothing, but at a certain point everybody started being like, oh quantum mechanics. So I thought to myself this funny story of that. We were in a simulation and when we got to that part, like the person that was controlling it, was sitting at their computer, when the first person started studying something on the quantum level and like they hadn't had that programming prepared for the rules of at that level. And so they just went like, oh, and then they made new rules. Oh, it's just a funny story. I don't actually believe that.
KYLE: You just figured out how to roll board?
LEAH: I love to hear why you think there's that difference. And then I feel like you sort of hinted at this. Do you maybe believe that even at the macro level, those rules might not be completely belted in place?
DAVY: Yes, that's a good question. I mean, I would say that from again, what my teams have shown me and what I've experienced myself is that matter is we see it, that sort of Newtonian S type of matter where it's just one thing bumps off another and it has very mechanical lifeless light properties to it, is that essentially all matter is developed by Source Intelligence. Now, the more that you get compression, energetic compression, on within the field, suddenly you get these very dense particulates that come into play that have very sort of very limited mechanical behavior.

And so when they cluster together, those attributes are still there. And so on a macro level, like you described, solid wall, car if you try and walk into it, you're going to know about it. It's not going to move out of the way, like you might be asking. So there are fundamental energetic principles. And what I call physics is just a synonym just the same name for energy behavior. And so having been worked in sort of mainstream physics paradigms, what I would say is that it was really the study of the behavior of energy in one form or another.
But when you start to release the compression and you start to become a multidimensional, what we call these quantum traits or these sort of very sort of non-local sort of fluid traits where things can be in two places at once, all this weird stuff that people not to be too deep in the technicalities, but essentially that is where, is a little bit, to me, is like a sort of an overlay bleed through where you've got where you're exit, you're experiencing a very, very high compression particulates in reality.
But there is still, when you go deep enough, that overlay where you're slightly transitioning into the fluid more quantum level. Now, for what my teams have said to me is that as we go through the evolutionary process, because you see, it's really our consciousness of confinement that keeps the compression in play. So as we change, so too does the compression outside of us. Everything lightens up, expands, it becomes more fluid and behaves more intelligently. There's a scientist called David Boehm, who studied plasma.
So, plasmas are very sort of high temperature gases where have a very different physics about them. But he was quite controversial in mainstream sort of things because he started to say, you know what, plasmas are exhibiting self-organization, spontaneous self-organization, how enough is that happening? And again, for me, with the teams, what they were saying is, as the compression comes off and plasma is really moving towards that compression release sort of state, is that the intelligence behind the particulates becomes to the forefront and it starts to come into play.

And then intelligent organization, you can observe it, you know. And so really, the movement into this paradigm of this quantum fluidity, these phenomenal properties, that the masters of the past displayed living energetic conscious technologies, like these advanced beings have, it's nothing like we have down here, it really isn't. You know, because the ships themselves are organically aware, they have a very advanced consciousness, they're not mechanical, they're not electronic in nature very different, because the physics of energy properties that they have are vastly different from the dead, non-living energetics of the high structure that we have down here.
And so essentially, as we evolve as beings and we open up to Source energetic, everything else is going to respond and change accordingly. Because when you think about it everybody says, it's a high compressed world, a lot of structure, everything else, it's a well, really, it's that the filtering of our that we have inside us that lenses are light to request the high compression and structure present itself. We have a whole load of belief systems, lots of layers, lots of things that request the very reality we see outside of it.
So it really is up to us and you can undo those perspective filters by releasing the corresponding belief systems and going through your puzzle piece solving that you've come here to do. And very bit by bit, very gently, you're going to start to see some very amazing phenomena happen. You know, people are already starting to see spontaneous flashes of light coming around and wisps of light happening. I believe that's going to happen more and more as people choose to get on the Ascension bandwagon and start really opening up to themselves.

INNER EARTH: The Truth About Beings in Crystalline Cities

Because in my experience of meeting these using bilocation of as I've described before, beings up on ships and also down in the Inner

Earth and these massive caverns that are down there. These beings live so synergistically to live again, a jetics there to give you an example, the Inner Earth beings, for example, they live in crystalline cities where the literal material is living in itself and it's conscious. You know, the environment, the air is just filled with living energetics. It's just so, I mean, I'm struggling to find the words to describe how profoundly beautiful it is, you know.
And so they don't have what I call sort of dead technologies like we have, where we use control and force to shunt, push, pull do all sorts of weird things like do it electronically or do it mechanically they don't have that.
They've moved into an era which is to do with high living energetic consciousness and the technologies that come with that. And it's so profound. You could, and again, with, I should probably mention because we're on this point, is that there are certain limitations. You can only go so far with dead mechanical energetics. And that's your limit. You can unmute things around, chop and change things to a whole bunch of seemingly accountable variations. But there's a ceiling, there's a ceiling to it because it requires high compression to have that play itself out.
Once you move beyond that compression, you start to move into multi-dimensional fluidity, the whole game changes and you're open to unlimitedness in ways that humanity is, it's going to be an interesting time to see how we behave and how we how we acclimate to these because it's astonishing just how different it is. But it's profoundly beautiful. And the things you can do are just instantaneous, I mean, unimaginable things. I mean, it's, again, we can go on forever with this. But that gives a little bit of an example.
LEAH: That is awesome. I want to ask more about, I'm going to call them the wrong thing, but like these Inner Earth people. Yes. Are you can you tell me more about this? Are you saying that they like actually exist that they are in another dimension in the Earth? Can you explain what's happening and how this works? I need to know more about this.
DAVY: Okay. Yes. Well, I mean, let's start with a subject to multi-dimensionality. So dimensions are really frequency ranges in a way into my interpretation. So a little bit like there's all radios. We have a tuning dial, you can go up and down. And then if you're on a certain frequency, you're hearing the DJ, your music, your sweat, that this is the only thing exists because this is what I'm hearing. This is what I'm experiencing. But you turn the dial a little bit whoop. Hang on a second. I've lost. I've lost them completely.

They've phased out. Now, I'm somewhere else it's a little bit like that. Now there can be overlay. So for example, the human being has a very large spectrum of perception. And as we evolve, that's going to get much larger at extending into the higher ranges of frequencies. So you will be able to perceive many stations of broadcast or multi-dimensional layers simultaneously. So you'll see beings that exist in a certain layer.
You'll see simultaneously beings that exist in a different layer. So you'll have this is one of the wonderful things that's going to happen to humanity. At least that's what I feel and what the teams have communicated. Now the Inner Earth beings, there's a whole multitude of different types of beings down there. And it's very cavernous inside that the Earth some I've heard people describe it as almost a honeycomb like a structure on the sort of appreciably saying just that the crust on the outside, there's something very different in the middle which maybe will be for another topic another time.
But essentially, these beings, the ones that I've connected with, they seek to help humanity in the ways they can. They seek to evolve themselves because they want to expand and enrich themselves because you see the more you can expand yourselves like they are doing and have done to become a multi-range perceiver and transmitter, suddenly life becomes very rich. You know, you can interact with a plethora of different species with a plethora of different perspectives. You know, the fun and excitement and adventure is pretty bountiful, you know.
And you know, and then once you get into those ranges of frequencies, then the living energetic aspect comes into it. You know, and then you start to move beyond what we call clunky mechanical technology because it becomes obsolete now. You know, there's something very different because when you can consciously interact with an innovation or a ship and you know, you don't have to make complex electronics to control the function of the ship, you can simply interact with it on a request level and a synergistic level.

It's very different. It's totally different. So these beings, so that, like I said, there's a range of them, the ones that are closer to the surface and there's ones that are closer in. Now, the ones that are closer in, closer to the core, they're pretty evolved beings. You know, they're very, very energetically aware. And it seems to be that the closer that they're evolved, they can move a little bit closer because the core energetic of the Earth emits a very powerful Source Intelligence energetic.
So those who aren't able to synergize for that can't get too close, you know. So it's almost a little bit of a progressive step by step for many of them to do that. But in observation they look very, the ones that I've encountered look very much like us, beautiful skin usually very blonde, sometimes light brown hair. You know, they are just very gentle beings, very allowing, very honoring I, it's such a contrast because when you go outside into the street, you see the surface you can behave. And you see how elegant and sweet and very, but very intelligent at the same time, these beings are, it's quite an inspiration, I think, for people to be able to see that and see you know, this is if you just relax and open up.
This is where you can be this is, and to expand a little bit more on your question the environment in there, like I said, the air itself, when you breathe, it's just rich with living energetics, you're literally breathing in just this rich, lifeful, energetic, not like what we have here it's very different. And so, and I can experience this through the bi-location, you can experience sensorially as if you were there, but while being seated here as well. There's a two-way sensorial perception exchange.
And the rocks around there are just littered with, with crystalline material that glows with this, this intelligent, energetic as well and I've met some of them in one they were sitting in a sort of enclaves or offshoot caves that go from the cabin. And they would simply hold up like shards of, of crystalline material to hold it. And just with their

Source Intelligence , it would just start glowing like this powerful light and they were showing just how easy it is to do that with these kinds of forms of materials. So they have a very, very advanced understanding of these things, but it's living energetics physics. It's not dead mechanical physics. So I hope that gives you a bit of a hole over here of a kind of just of what your question was about.
KYLE: Now I have six more questions. Yes, I did too from that. Yes, it's cool because like three years ago, I interviewed Lee Harris and he channeled the Zs. And one of the things they said was, if you knew what was what was in inside the Earth, you would be praying to the ground and not up to the sky. And I was like, oh, interesting. And now more is being revealed, which I find fascinating.

The Truth About Sasquatch (And Their Complex Language)

And so the question I'm curious that comes up from what you just explained, is the Sasquatch being that's coming up and shifts multi-dimensionality? What's your take on Sasquatch?
DAVY: That's an interesting question. I've never got too much into that. I mean, can we buy one right now? The Sasquatch. Yes, well I've had some encounters because we live in Florida and Florida actually, funnily enough, is I believe the second next to Oregon highest encounters or people seeing or hearing these things because Oregon is number one. And then I didn't even think Florida was, but apparently it is.
And we've been walking in trails here and we've heard them. Very powerful. The voice that the complexity of the language is quite phenomenal. It's, but the power of the voice is astonishing. It kind of takes you back a little bit thinking, whoa, what is that? And we sort of when we came out, we were sort of good friends with one of the Rangers in the park. And I said, look, I'm not quite sure how because you never know how people start to be doing crazy or something. And I said to look, I'm going to try and mimic the sound. I can't even do it now properly. And he just carried on and said, do you mean like this?
Yes, as he said, oh, those are what we call down under skunkapes or what people call Sasquatch or whole different a bunch of names.

And he said, they move through here every now and again you'll hear them. They'll, but there are two of them communicating from either end of the forest we're walking through. And one would say something, the other one would exchange and there's this there's this whole conversation going on. It was crazy. I've never heard anything like it.
Like I said, a lot of popping and guttural and throat sounds. It was just I can't reproduce it with my voice, but it was extraordinary. Yes. But in terms of information there's a lot of different species that have come here from time to time. And even some of the Inner Earth beings have come here and just nestled in and wanted to stay here kind of thing. So there's a lot of rich, how can I say? I mean, there's even a whole class of what they call cryptozoology studying the vast different creatures that roam around here. But there seems to be different degrees. You know, some of them have had bad experiences with humanity. So they're a little bit more defensive they're very much more territorial.

From Hardcore Scientist to Mystic: Dave's Full Awakening Story

But a lot of them when you show them that you are peaceful and you mean no harm and you do wish to have peaceful interaction, there are a lot of examples of people like there was one guy. He watched a documentary once and he lived in a log cabin. You know, I think I think it might have been Washington State where he was. That might be wrong. But anyway, he would always see them about and walking around and he would leave food for them, like apples or just stuff they can eat.
And they'd pick the bags up, the bags would go and that would be it. And sometime much later, he fell down the side of a, he's walking, fell down the side of a sort of slanted ravine, broke his leg and it was as the bottom knocked out because of the pain and then woke up back on his cabin. So they found him, according to this guy, picked him up and had taken him back as a gesture of gratitude for what he'd been doing.

So it's perhaps it's one of those one of those species that they seem to have very advanced abilities telepathically and other things. There's a lot of evidence that people have recorded on that. But yes, you do have to kind of show them that you are you're good nature rather than I think it was James Gilliland, I think, who I think on another show I saw in Michaels, I think. And he was saying, here's a lot around there.

And he says the same, that if you go with an open heart and good nature about it, you'll have a good encounter. But if you go in there wanting to do all sorts of things, you might want to leave you. So, yes, I mean, my limited experience with that has they didn't mean us anything, they were just having a conversation. I think they knew that we were there. You know, I can't say that for sure, that's just my feeling. But yes, the language was very complex. You could hear just so many different levels of tone structure in the linguistics. It was quite phenomenal, actuality.

KYLE: That is cool. Thank you for sharing that story.

LEAH: Yes, I'm curious where the Inner Earth beings came from. Are they related to us in their further along? Did they come from another planet? I'm still on the Earth. He loved the Earth.

DAVY: Yes, there's that's a mixed bag from my understanding, some of them came from other civilizations, came here and have outposts here. Some of them were our history is as our species goes quite a long way back much further than we are told that it goes back.

And so there have been offshoots of civilizations where big climactic events meteorite impacts, all that kind of thing has happened, where pockets of humanity have been invited down below to shelter and stay and then evolve and grow there. Because again, the energetics within the Earth are quite different from the energetics up on the surface. And so yes, there's a lot more information that I mean, again, that's just a massive subject to itself.

I'm just trying to pick out some of the highlights for you. But certainly, there's my experience with those civilizations that are quite deep, but still kind of in the outer sort of mantle, if you know what I mean, there's many different layers to it, but let's just call it like, say the first 500 miles, say, for example, deep those sort of beings, they consider humanity as their brothers and sisters and they do actually have the ability to remotely watch what we're doing they, and they do that a lot they're constantly looking for, as one group mentioned to me, they're looking for people who are aligned, heart-centeredly, good-natured, who are looking to connect with them, because they are starting to branch out, they're starting to form connective relationships and so I would say to anyone who's interested in doing that make a good connection with your high self first and ask your higher self to assist in that connection so you can get a very clear, very good connection with one of them, or one of the groups of beings that are reaching out that your higher self feels is the most suitable for you right now, and that can change because in my experience, it's changed, I've met a number of different civilizations from different groups, but yes, that's, to me, that's always the best way to do it is to have your high, because your high self knows each of these groups, it has a very, very powerful multi-dimensional perspective of what you are going through, what your life path is, and which energetic right now would be the best for you to connect with so that,

KYLE: that is definitely a recommendation that I would make. Awesome, now we have quite the buzz going on in the spiritual community about 3I Atlas. I'm curious, have you tuned into 3I Atlas at all and what's your perspective on it? Are you familiar with it?

A Message on Comet 3I/ATLAS: "Just Wait and See"

DAVY: I know there's a whole slew of different ways of teaching some whole picture people on what it is and some of them are really diametrically opposite. You know, I tuned to my team because I was chatting with Pam recently and she's quite excited about it and a number of other people as well, and she asked me the same question, and I tuned in, and my teams, they were very, they're very playful, and they said “Just wait and see.” And I said, is there any, any information you can give us or what, they just went? [shakes finger in air] So and they said, this is why they wouldn't give too much, they said there is a tendency within humanity to want to know too much intellectual information about things rather than having an experience of what is coming through that event, and they said is part of the aspect here.

THE PROPHECY: An Urgent Message for December 2025 - 2026

There's a series of very profound events that are happening, including a series of waves that are going to start in December, and they're not going to give too much information about that because they said what they love humanity to do is to feel what that event is actually doing for them on a an ascension expansion level, not get too caught up in the data, the bits and pieces and the nature of where there are house and wires and that's some bolts of it kind of thing, and that made a lot of sense to me when that came through. I've done a lot of that kind of I want to know kind of thing and I found exactly what they were saying when I knew too much about something, and I was trying to anticipate, or just lock in for those qualities that I've been told about. You actually inherently block yourself from receiving a lot of energetics that are going on, which if you just relax and let the event unfold and invite your high self to help you really assimilate work with the energetics that you need in your path right now, I've found, I've missed so many, I wouldn't say them opportunities, but I've missed so many levels of energetics by trying to focus too much on the information and they were right, and I've asked several times since, okay, has anything changed and they said the same thing, wait and see.

KYLE: So could the big waves be coming from 3I Atlas, or is this just information they won't share, like we have got to wait and see?

DAVY: Well they did share, they did say that these waves are coming from a multitude of waves, but also importantly they're coming from the very fabric of space itself within the solar system, so you know there's a great deal of.

That's one of the big things in mainstream physics is they don't really go so far as to try and understand what is the fabric of space itself, what is it actually in reality, and so there's a huge body of understanding and remembrance that humanity will go through in itself, but they were saying that these waves are being generated by, and they were saying what's happening, and I can feel them here now, they're saying that what's happening is that a spherical energy is coming online around the entire solar system.

And within that is going to be the movement towards a sphere of living energetics, it's like this solar system itself is going to become a living energetics sphere complex within itself, if that makes sense. So what's happening now. they're saying, they're relaying to me and I'm just relaying to you, so this isn't like channeling I can feel what their impulses are, and I'm just relaying them to you, is that humanity is moving on to a timeline of the living Source Intelligence energetic, and so with that is coming up, all of the old ancient energetics to do with previous civilizations where we have experimented with, let's call it synthetic intelligence and a whole bunch of other things that went catastrophically wrong, caused a lot of trauma etc, etc.
So as we move into the more living intelligent organic way of living, we have all the old stuff of the very synthetic, the mechanical, all the technological, that's coming up at the same time, and I believe that's why we are seeing such a polarity between all the gusto on that side of things, and also lots of people on the other side who are really going for inner expansion, inner connection, and living consciousness. So, so yes, I'm not sure if that answered your question.
KYLE: For sure. That definitely answered my question, and that's exciting, and likely I have more questions now, but I'll let Leah go.
LEAH: What is 3I Atlas? That's the first question. Well, it depends who you ask, right?
DAVY: It does. I've tried to keep away. I didn't know what it is.
LEAH: I'm just trying to figure it out as I'm hearing if we can have David to find it.
DAVY: Yes. Well, so far if you look at what astronomers are saying the very limited photographs they've been saying, which are a little more than just little dots on the screen, to be honest with you, their claim is that it's just an oddly behaving lump of rock an exotic lump of rock of sorts. Now, like I said, again there's a lot of different perspectives about who could it be, a ship? Could it be this?

Because it's changing orbits and changing its direction in particular ways, which is not characteristic of a dead lump of rock just floating through space.
So there are odd things going on for sure. And so the question becomes everyone's asking, what is it, what's happening, because we did have that other object, the Amura Mua that elongated sort of rock like formation, which did a similar thing. It behaved in very odd ways.
The orbits, the trajectories, there was something very odd about it. Like it wasn't a normal dead lump of rock going through space it had odd properties.
So it passed through and passed out and so I believe that object called 3I Atlas is pretty close, and it's probably at its closest point now. I don't know, I'll have to check on that, but I think that's accurate. But yes, there's a lot of people claiming it's this race or that race and something else. And again, when I'm not pressed by teams, but I said, is there anything that you can, you can offer us to what it is? They just sit just say “wait and see”
This is another thing I find with, and I'd love to mention it, if you don't mind, is that one of the things about really getting crystal clear information is to have no slant on the outcome. You can't have any preconditioning or pre-ideas of what you want it to be before you ask the question, When you get streams of information through, and I think this is very important for people to know who are endeavoring on this path, is that you have to make sure you're very neutral when you ask a question so that you will not overlay your own preferences that move the stream in the direction that you want to move it. Because again, when they give you information or a stream of information, they're not going to stop you. They're not going to interfere with your free will to choose to move it in a direction if that's what you want to do or to bend it this way or that way for anything else. It's up to us as human beings to settle ourselves first, be very centered, be very neutral, then ask a very neutral question and then wait for the result.
So that's a key thing and I do suspect that a lot of different perspectives are because people may unknowingly have preferences about what it should be or what they're expecting it to be and therefore overlay the requested information when they ask what is it. So that's one possibility that can be happening now.

KYLE: Yes, in a weird way we just had somebody come on that talked about it and a lot of the feedback I was hearing from the spiritual community is this is so confusing because every single person is saying different things. Exactly. A person saying it's a leprechaun pouring gold over us and the other person saying this and that and so it goes, but I like your perspective.
DAVY: Actually, if you don't mind, I just had something else on this because I kind of first learned this during remote viewing because remote viewing is all about just getting clear-cut data, removing imagination, emotions, everything, just getting information, essentially. And one of the things they found that they had to do to create this sort of training course was to teach people how to get ahead of their overlaying and their imprinting on things.
And so that really had a bit of a core truth for me moving forward when my teams move me away from classical remote viewing into what I call remote perception. And that is to say they're saying that once you have learned to really get centered and be very neutral, that is when you can have the clearest perception because we often, I say often a lot of meetings, we often influence things by what we want to see in the outcome.
And that wish to have something appear as XYZ can be unconscious, subconscious, we may not even realize it's us overlaying it like that. And you get this impulse information, oh, wow, it's XYZ, but did you get yourself neutral first to get clear information? Or is there some aspect of you that really wants to see it as that or this group or this thing or some event. That is why I believe and it's a good lesson. You know, I don't, there's in no way any mean to be derogatory to anyone giving their perspective. I think it's a good learning lesson because there are so many different perspectives that say, well, why are there so many different perspectives? And I believe that is a very, very big core of why it is happening. Yes, that makes a lot of sense.

KYLE: Now, my question is, have your guides ever said? I did nice to question. I was just thinking, what do you think?
DAVY: I saw you give him a pinch on the side. What do you think?
KYLE: You've asked me questions. We're fighting for questions. All right, rock, paper, zoop. All right, you can go. Have your guides ever said to you before, wait and see. And if so, when was the situation where they might have used that before?
DAVY: Ah, that's an interesting question, not quite as definitive as that, but a lot of the times, particularly with my own personal healing aspects, because you know, we're all going through puzzle piece solving a lot of the times when they say that it really what they're meaning is get neutral.
You're not neutral, so you will not see the issue for what it is right now because you are focusing, it's that I have to go after that and they're saying you need to relax your perception because it's actually this so and that's a key thing. And so when I've experienced these beings gone up to their ships, their perception is crystal sharp.
I know that's a weird thing to say it like that, but it's so clean because they have they live in such a scented way and they've learned to really exist with the powerful emotions they have, but not let them steer them in any particular direction. And so that's another key thing because humanity has a very powerful emotional feel, emotional body, whatever you want to call it. And so it can be very impulsive. You know, we see that a lot today.
There's a lot of people acting out really because of these massive emotional impulses they get. And so part of the motion with humanity is to learn to really just keep remembering, then they say that to me a lot, even now, remember your center, remember your center because when stuff comes up, it can really throw you off, it can really make you wobble. And they're saying, right, now you're in it. Okay, that's okay. That's fine.
This is back to me finding your center within that, then you will see it very clearly, and you will be able to deal with it very quickly. You know, it's when we it's when we get entangled in it, we lose our center, we get all ruffled up in all of the emotional turmoil. Suddenly, we're like, Oh, God, I've just fallen down the mountain. I think there's a Sasquatch directly me. Yes, exactly. And that's what it can feel like. And I've done that many times throughout my lifetime.

It took me quite a while to learn. Even now I have my wobbles it's human beings having the emotional power that they have, it's it can be quite tricky sometimes to find center. But the teams will come in and say, find your center, we're not going to give you any information until you find your center, because whatever we give you, you just can fly off with it in a different direction.
And that's not what we want you to do, because you're just going to go entertain all sorts of weird stuff that's nothing to do with what's going on. And that's what we need you to focus on.
KYLE: That's awesome. I have a follow up.
LEAH: Okay, so, so many things, but I'll start with this. It seems the idea of getting neutral to channel, it just, it really reminded me of how important that is in so many aspects of life, like even in relationships. And yes, it made me think to myself one of the best things about my mom was that she was so neutral. Like if I told her something, she didn't have an opinion about it.
And so if whatever way I went, and I think that's because she existed in this loving field that I've rarely experienced. So I think it's such a great state, because even how you were saying you could sort of get things twisted up, I think people will sometimes twist to form into what we want them to be. There's so many ways that dynamic would be useful in our lives, even if we're not channelers. So I would love to hear more about how you get into that place and how you get into that state, because I think it would be practical for us just in our regular lives.

The #1 Tool to Get Centered: Rhythmic Breathing

DAVY: Yes, no, that's a really good question. And so let's start here. One of the things that when the teams or the infinite Source Intelligence comes through to give activations and through the meditations is the first thing they start with is rhythmic breathing, because your heart center is right very necessarily between your lungs. So as you expand and contract air in your lungs, it's around the center of your heart is right there. The positioning of everything is very well designed for a purpose. So when people get stressed, they say, well, it's the first thing, take a deep breath.

Okay, immediately it starts to feel that much better, just taking a breath. Now, so rhythmic breathing, which is essentially as they've defined it, is your unique rhythm of breathing that brings you the most relaxation, the most the most joy in doing it. It's not some people breathe deep and slow over like a whole minute or something. Some people, it's more like 10 seconds. The rhythmic breathing is unique to you and it does change as you change. So it's the rhythm that matches the synergy of where you are right now. So that will opt that rhythmic breathing optimizes the energy intake and expansion process unique to you and it will be different for everybody. And so what they encourage people to do is play with your breath, do it a little bit faster, a little bit slower, find the sweet spot where you find it. Ah, ah, that feels really good. That's where it feels the most the most beautiful, the most joyful that is close to my rhythmic breathing now and play with that. And as you start doing that, one of the things to do is to ask your higher self because your higher self is there 24/7, 365 never leaves is always with you, but it honors your free will.
So if you don't choose to interact with it, it will just keep back and observing and I'll just keep watching. So you can ask your high self, okay, my high self, please help center me and help utilize my rhythmic breathing to bring me the most centeredness I can. So I'm in my still point within my high self. And with each in breath, just infuse me with your intelligent love light. So you can feel your whole body infusing like sponge with your high self, love light. And just do that, rhythmically breathe in and out and you'll find it will go deeper and deeper and deeper. And with that comes your serenity, the peacefulness, the calmfulness and you will automatically center. And as you practice that, it will become more innate, more automatic so that you'll have to do the practice less and more less and less as a conscious exercise and it'll become more natural to you as a human being. So that definitely is one of the most profound ways. And at the same time, it will also really cue you up so that you can really connect with your high self, get to feel your high self energetic more, get to know your high self so you can really start to work on much more profound, but be much more meaningful ways with your high self as you go forward. Beautiful.

KYLE: We've heard a lot of people talking about, and her mom has a great energy. She's not a lot, but I've tuned into our mom's energy and it's a beautiful energy.

Why You MUST Clear Your Emotional Charge (A Critical Healing Key)

So we hear a lot of people talking about 2026 and they're being in increase in energy. And I'm just curious if you've tuned into that. And also, like, I hear a lot of people in the spiritual community when they're like, yes, 2026, it's going to be like this increase in energy, it's going to be awesome. And like, when I think about it, I'm like, is that awesome? Like, will an increase in energy feel awesome? Like, because everyone seems a little patchy crazy right now. So like, if we turn this up, is it going to be cool? Are we going to be cool? Are we not going to be cool?
DAVY: You know, I can hear my teams right now. It depends on your level of resistance. Okay. Cool. So this is this is the key thing.
And they said it, they've had to repeat it to me a lot as well. They're saying that because when stuff has come up, like sometimes these aches and pains and weird stuff, and it's your resistance. You're you are resisting the transformation. So you're fighting it. And so you're causing the sensations that you're experiencing.
So you just come in, do your centering center again, feel very clearly the parts of you that are resisting. You can do one or two things. You can offer them up to your high self or you can talk with them and convince them, you know what, this fighting thing isn't working out. How about you work with my high self synergize with my high self and have my high self clear you of all the belief systems, the energetics and the emotional charge.
That's really important. Because the emotional charge will polarize you and fixate you in a particular direction. Once it's dissolved and just disintegrate it down, now you're free to move properly. Now the healing can really begin. Because that's one thing that I made many mistakes on going through my path is that I was forgetting to ask my high self, can you please break down the emotional charge on this? It can become quite electric.

It's literally like static. You know, it's stuff sticks to it like crazy. I'm not kidding. It's directly an alley. So yes, exactly. And so what happens is they're saying that many times, I said, God, God, I've cleared this like five times already. Why does it keep coming back? You know, and they're saying you have cleared the beliefs, you've changed the attitudes, but what you have not done is cleared the emotional charge and it will call it back.
So it keeps coming back to you. Because the charge acts like a magnet. It will just keep requesting it back again and again and again. So that's one thing to be aware of is to really ask your higher self, okay, is it any emotional charge on this needs to break down? Invariably, it's yes, sometimes a lot, sometimes a little. But once you break it down then, it's like the anchors are broken, the tethers are snapped off. Now you can start moving in a different direction.
So that's a big thing. But coming back to what you were saying about the they've said to me that starting December all the way through 2026, there's going to be a series of very powerful waves stepping up and they'll reach their crescendo. I don't know if it's going to go beyond 26 yet. Now they're smiling again. I don't think they're going to say much more on that. Yes, exactly. But it's all about. Yes. They're very joyful. They're very grateful. And they are big jokesters. You know, they play jokes like crazy and that's to me is innate with Source Intelligence because Source Intelligence is very playful is by its nature, just pure playfulness and the more playful and just free flowing, you can be the more you will open to it.
Because by doing that, you are actually synergizing with it. You're becoming more like it and opening to it. So it can flow in you. It can play within you and you can start remembering who you really are. You know, Serious is seriously outdated. It's the very thing that actually keeps you contracted and shuts everything down.
So that playfulness that pure Source Intelligence can't come through. You're almost shutting it out now, you know. So that's why you see like when you see newborn babies, they're so open, uncontracted, unserious, they really beam that energy. And then as soon as they start to get a little bit of freighter things, they start to contract down, they start to become more serious. And then pretty much that beautiful emanation that you could see in the rise as a baby and a grown adult suddenly it's a very different energy, you know.

So that's the thing. It's playfulness is innate to these very advanced beings and Source Intelligence. They are quite playful and they're quite funny about the way they do things as well, you know. They're always popping jokes, you know. But just think it.
LEAH: I did. I you went into this a little bit, but I wonder if you think that it's more effective to connect with your heart and if just that will heal things or to look at and work on what is blocking your heart.
DAVY: Well, that's a good that's a very good question. I would say in my experience, when I have had activations or when I've requested all my higher self as saying, we would love to activate this or do this or open your heart and you give the permission to do it. It feels great for a while.
I think, whoa, this is cool and then the stuff comes up. And that's not all the time, but essentially what it is when you and they've given this analogy many times, if you imagine a cup full of mud and as you move the cup around, the mud doesn't do very much. It just stays within the cup and it's just there. Now, when you start to introduce or pour crystal clear liquid light or water into that cup, it's going to ooze and slop out the sides and it's going to come out. So part of that, I know that's a really, really yucky analogy.
Essentially, what happens is the more light you take in, it will push out and forward that which is not within synergy of that. So it's the outcoming of everything that anchors tethers you down into contraction and density now is being out you go, you know. And so because it's making space within your energetic bodily system, your energetic systems as a whole, your feels, it's kicking things out because it's not just within your physicality.
These things can be located within your fields as well and then suddenly just like you're feeling great one day within five minutes. Oh God, what the heck? You know, it's suddenly you feel like a lot of stuff has come up. Yes. An that's because quite recently they gave me an activation and I was feeling, right, wow, this is so cool. I feel so expanded. It's so cool. And the next day, God, it's nice. And it can feel like that. And that's the key to say to yourself, okay, right. It's stuff that's being kicked out.

Okay, my high self just helped me just break this down. And that's another key thing because very compressed energies can be quite stuck and very structural in their makeup. And so quite hard to shift sometimes. You know, some people have complained about lingering issues going on for quite some time and it's like, God, this is being out for weeks or months or whatever, you know. And so just remember that your high self is there, knows exactly what it is, how to break it down and what to do with it.
But you need to give it permission to do that first. Because we still have the free will component in us. And that is on it. You know, that is on it. And so when you say to your high self, okay, I'm not entirely sure what this is right now. But can you make it clear to me of any aspects I need to know about this? And can you begin the breaking down process and give your high self full permission to do the breaking down process and the washing away process as well? Because it's one thing to break stagnant mud down.
And, but now it's got to be washed out. It's got to be cleared as well. So I find that simple combination is a very, very powerful thing. Like just this morning, I had something really ancient come up for me and I was feeling utterly rotten. You know, like I was like walking around like a bit like a as on you for a while. And you know, and that can happen, but you know, because of the experience I've had my ISO came and said, it's fine. It's the activation you had yesterday. You know, just let us break it down. We'll take care of it.
And within five minutes, it all turned around. You know, it's that quick. So that's a tool to remember you have the most powerful ally in your arsenal right inside you, your high self. Your multi-dimensional self, which is you, it can see everything about you as a full spectral view of you knows where the issues are, what to do, how to do it. But you need to give it permission to work on it. Otherwise, it's just going to observe mostly. So yes, that's something to bear in mind.

What's Causing The Global Sleep Disturbances?

LEAH: I'm saying that I feel like next time I'm like in a bad mood, I'm going to say I'm just slapping out some mud. This is this has to do with my question, because

KYLE: I have felt like in a great mood lately, but if I don't sleep, I'm slopping mud everywhere. I feel like I become a completely different being that's like, brain is just not working. And you know, I've heard a lot of people lately, just say they're not getting great sleep, and then they don't have good days of it. So I'm just curious, your thoughts on sleep, is there stuff going on energetically that's causing people to sleep less? And then what can we do

DAVY: about it as a collective? So we're not Oh, there's a whole lot of stuff going on right now. That's the story. You know, it's yes, it's it could be pretty crazy. I mean, it's, wow, where do I start with this one? It's the thing is it's there's so many layers to it. Well, one of the things is that like when we go to bed, and my teams are told me one of the things that happens is now you are letting go. Now the work begins because during the daytime, we often walk around like this and we're kind of we don't realize it.

We don't realize it holding on so tight. But when you contrast that to where you are slabbed out totally relaxed when you're in bed, that is a big, big contrast of open and relaxation in the state of itself. Compared to when you're walking around doing your daily life things, moving things, planning things, taking care of stuff, you know.

So most of the work actually takes place when you are sleeping. Now, sometimes when they're moving things, I've had instances where my teams they're working on when they're shifting stuff, they're really kind of pulling stuff out. And then because of the intensity of the energy movement, I'll wake up. Oh, what's that? Oh, my God, what's happening? Oh, sorry, go back to sleep. We didn't need to wake you. We just pulling that out. It's really crazy.

And there's so many different examples. And again, one of the things that you can do, which is very important that they're telling me now is that remember that there are energetic fields they can place around you, what they call cocoons, they look like a cocoon field, but cocoon is just a very simple way of calling it. And they can tailor the cocoon for whatever energy you would like to have. And if you like it to hand your high self, say to your high self, I don't know what energy to request right now be better than anything else.

You know, what is it that I need right now that will most benefit me through the work and integration I need to do throughout the night. So I can have the most peaceful and graceful sleep while this is going on. Okay, and they're saying, yes, a lot more people, they really are keen for people to ask for that. Because they're saying a massive amount of work, shifting work and clearing work is being done on people by their teams and their higher selves right now. And it's in preparation for what is coming. Because they're saying, okay, would you like me to say anything about that? Okay. So the ways that are coming and you'll be quite extraordinary and quite powerful. And so they're saying this is preparation work, it's very important for people to get clear so that you can ride the waves. They're saying the analogy is, if you're a surfer and you've got a little lead weights on you, you're going to find it really hard to set the way you don't. But if you take those lead weights off, you serve freely, it's going to be a different story, you know. So they're saying that's the analogy to think of. So yes, so we're going to ride the wave.
LEAH: You're going to run the wave to sleep domain. We can't be swabbing anymore.
LEAH: I'll put that bubble around me right now. Yes. Oh, I'm actually DAVY: Go for it. They're saying ask for whatever. And you can ask for whatever energy or energy combination your higher self or you can request it yourself if you want to.
LEAH: Hmm. I love that so much. You know, before you use the word emanate and I've heard you talk about this, I feel like I personally was let down by the whole focus on manifestation and I have totally had a personal revolution because I think it made me kind of miserable. Right.

Why I'm a "Retired Manifestor"

LEAH: Yes. So I'm a retired manifester.
DAVY: Right. That's a really interesting way to say.

LEAH: Yes. And I honestly really, and this I'm so much happier. It's a fall short, but I really would just like to emanate the light of Christ. That's and that's that serves me. So can you talk about the difference and what you how you believe that can work in your life differently as a focus?
DAVY: Yes, that's a great question. I'd love to answer that one. It's the way I'd approach it is this because I have a very similar background to you that when I in my early days tried a lot of different stuff. Didn't really work and you know, but you get to learn about what is in what is truthfully operating and what is what is just maybe fluff or just is misunderstanding. Now, one of the things that I've really become aware of doing this path is what my teams have been saying to me is that they're saying again, think of the analogy with holding a dead stick and be able to instantly bring that to life.
That is manifestation. Now, what it requires to do that manifestation is an open flowing of Source Intelligence to perform the requested manifestation that you requested. See, as living beings, we can lens Source love intelligence or Source love abilities as we wish to focus them or lens them. But again, you can make all the lensing intentions you want.
But if your faucet is mostly closed off and you just get a drip out, not much is going to happen. And so there's one school of thought that says, Oh, you just have to change your beliefs and go mental about it and just keep focusing mentally. Well, the difficulty with that is that one, the mind is a polarity generator. So you get both poles of what you've requested so you create one aspect of it here, but the opposite pole also gets created as well.

The Mind (Polarity Generator) vs. The Heart (Zero Point)

But the heart center, the core is the zero point center. It's non polar. It doesn't create polls. It creates in from the purity of that intelligence. Now, the mind is undergoing this transformation where it's going to be moving beyond what we call polarity. But that's that seems to be a very much a process unfolding. How long that's going to take?
I don't know. But what I would say is that the essence that that allows you to create bend, morph reshaped all these great things that you can do like the masses have done is from here. The access point is in your heart center. It comes from the very center of the field or the vessel you call the soul vessel, your higher self floods that vessel. And at the very center of it is your direct access to Source itself. Nothing impedes that.

It is your one to one with the unified field that we call Source Intelligence. And it is that that gives you the ability to change morph, do crazy cool things like the masters could do. You know, I don't believe these are idle stories. I think these are direct reflections of beings who had that access and therefore had this powerhouse with which to lens and change reality because if you think of matter, matter within itself is a highly compressed form of the original Source field in one different level or another.
It's a whole different category of all different things, shapes and sizes that you can have. But in the core of it is Source Intelligence. So to access the fundamentals of both the compression, the behavior and how that matter changes, responds or does what it does, you have to match the very core energetic, which is Source Intelligence. So the more you can emanate that, now you're really starting to gain access to the fundamentals. Now you are starting to truly shape, bend and morph reality as you wish, which is another word for manifestation. So that's what I believe it really is.
And so yes, I totally agree with you that that's there's a lot of shenanigans and all sorts of things. I don't want to be disrespectful to anyone. I've experienced a lot of those and so much of it doesn't work. But having come along the path that I've come on, one thing is very, very clear to me that the teams have said that access to here is your primary and it is the absolute focal point for everything you want to do. If you want to ascend, it's here. If you want to connect with your high self, it's here. If you want to connect with your soul vessel, it's here everything from creating manifestation and even gaining access to the very fundamentals, which make up the so-called rules of energy behavior, physics, you can do it from here, because this has access to everything. So that is what I would say is the answer to that.

KYLE: So I'm trying to think of how to ask this question, but I am hearing you talk about these inner-Earth beings, right? And then I have friends who have, I probably talked to them about the inner-Earth beings, they would say I'm crazy, but they might start being open to it. And I think back like 20 years ago, if we started talking about the inner-Earth beings, the majority of people would say that that's not a real thing.

But my question is, is where the Earth itself? Is it going through, like, where is it in its evolutionary journey? We hear people talk about two earths happening, the new Earth, infinite earths. I'm curious your take on the Earth, and like, is like our transition on this Earth right now, why we're seeing these multidimensional beings, you know? Are you curious?

DAVY: Yes, well, it all comes back down to frequency perception again, bandwidths of perception. You know, when I use that analogy with the radio tuning up and down, if you have a limited set of perception bandwidth, we'll say, there's only like that particular group of frequencies within it with you all hear a DJ or music or anything. Now, if you really expand it, suddenly you become aware of lots of different overlays of different beings, different levels of consciousness and so on.

So what we're going through right now on my take on it is that the Earth at the very core, there's something very, very special and profound at that core. And I agree with Lee on that one, that there's, if you only knew what was down there it would be a massive reverence for sure. I think that's a great way of saying it. And these beings that move down there, they wish to get closer to that because it's such a beauty.

They're in such reverence of the being and the core, which is, which is the Earth. And now, so what's happening is that you've got these, let's just say less than savory beings or characters that have done all sorts of things. And you know, there's this core emanation that is blasting out from the center of the Earth, very high intensity, very pure feminine Source energetic the quality of life creation itself.

And on the surface, you've got the sun itself beaming massive waves of coded energetics, you've got waves coming out of the solar system, distant civilizations, a martyrs of ships that are pouring down these frequencies, a whole mixed bag. And if you imagine the center of the Earth, and all this coming in and all that going out is creating this fusion between the two.

And this is why it's so important for people to understand when they're feeling bad. That's just part of the process of the outpouring of that, which will not synergize with where we are going. So you can get rid of it, you can move deeper into synergy, and you can start moving with this beautiful gentle up movement into the ascension expansion process.
And so yes, with this hold, and there's nothing that can stop this, nothing is going to get in this way. The only wiggle room we have is which choice we take as we're experiencing that, that's it. You know, so it's like when people say, Oh, is there any possibility?
No, there's no possibility that there's going to be anything, but because again, all of existence is handled by Source Intelligence. And when a plan is decreed like this, the plan is going to unfold. That's simply the way it's going to be. You know there may be groups that come kicking and screaming or refuse. That's their choice. But they're not going to fare very well with what's going to happen.
You know, because the energies are going to get so high, you simply cannot have a disharmonious, a harm meaning consciousness in that environment, it's going to get harder and harder and harder. You know, so that's what's happening. You can see it so many people that you can see, like if you watch some of the things that are going on out there, you can see a really becoming unstable.
It's because they don't know how to handle all the stuff that's uprooting in them, as this process is taking place and they're becoming unstable, really unstable, some of them. And so again, just the simple rhythmic breathing technique centering yourself, working with you, I can't overemphasize that enough, working with your higher self that knows exactly what's going on with you, knows exactly what to do, but is waiting for your request to help.
That's very important and particularly the emotional charge because what you have to remember is we are outpouring millennia upon millennia upon millennia. I mean, we're talking hundreds of thousands of years, not just on this planet, but previous incarnations in other civilizations that went through upheavals as well, all part of this process.

So all of this is coming out, and I believe this is the end stop for this kind of stuff, that we really are getting rid of the bulk all of this stuff in bulk. And that's why it feels so intense a lot of the time as well. So that is my version of what's happening and what bandwidth or what reality you end up in or what you experience depends on the bandwidth of energy you are holding. So if you really filled yourself with your higher self, you've worked to assimilate with your higher self and work in that beautiful extension process, you will get the perception of the higher nature of the frequencies moving forward. Those who resist kick, fight and buck, well, you're probably going to be, I don't know, somewhere in the middle or those who absolutely refuse, well, you'll be stuck in the high compression range that's, and you'll get another chance some other time, but you know, this, this, this ship is going to sail.
LEAH: Thinking about advancement makes me think of AI, which everybody's always talking about. And especially how much you talk about how important the heart is. I mean, as far as close as it seems like it could get, it would be more like a mind brain at its best. And I'm not even sure if it could ever be that. But could it ever be conscious without a heart without that heart intelligence and energy?
DAVY: Yes, that's a great question. Yes, somebody else asked me that recently too. And the way my teams have just given me the sensation of it. And adding in my own perception as well, is that what I call it lovingly, the Absence of Intelligence.
If you look at the first two letters, because quite literally it is a synthetic mimicry of the brain intelligence, but it is not Source Intelligence. I want to make that very clear. You know, that kind of synthetic intelligence can only operate with it a certain way. And it goes no further. There's a ceiling for that.
Now, the other thing is it can't create anything. It doesn't, when people use these, these platforms to say, Oh, make an image of this or do this or do that, it collects what it's learned from a whole bunch of images all over the place, squishes them together and gives you an output. And if you know what you're looking for, you can see the weird overlays where things haven't quite mauled together properly. You know, it's noticeable. So the point is that we as creator beings, we have the ability to create absolutely brand new concepts, ideas and feelings, because we are creator beings. All the synthetic intelligence or mimicry can do is amalgamate, which is squished together. It can permutate, which is shuffle everything around and spit out a result. So essentially it's limited because all it can ever do is do permutations with whatever data it receives.

And that is it. You know, it can't come up with anything new. And that isn't in a similar way to the human mind itself, which has disconnected from the Source Intelligence. Now, one of the things that my teams have talked about is in this progression forward is the reuniting, the refusing of what we call the brain or physical intelligence with Source Intelligence.

So the brain becomes an extension, an instrument of Source Intelligence , your heart center, not a master in of itself, and not something that just flails around flapping, reacting to all sorts of weird things. It becomes a very harmonious and centered, becomes a beautiful instrument. Now, that that is in our in our path forward as we go forward.

And you know, and add the more that you infuse with your high self, you'll start to feel your mind becoming softer or harmonious. The thoughts it comes up with a gentler and you know, much more peaceful. You'll start to notice that. Now coming back to what you were saying before is because Source, because absence of intelligence doesn't work from that, it only can work in the domain, like I said, of amalgamation and permutation.

Now people can perceive, Oh, look, it's come up with that. That's brand new. No, it's not. You can have a pantry full of ingredients and you can shuffle, mix and do whatever you want, but it's limited. That's all you can do. It's like a keypad. You have zero to nine on there. And you know, let's say you want four different accommodation of four different codes.

Well, it's 10 to the power of four possible permutations. That's your lot. You can't do anything more. So it's all a question of there is a mathematics called combinatorics, which is all about how many possible combinations can you have in a particular environment. And this is the same thing. It's just it may seem it's the number of combinations are pretty vast.

That doesn't mean that it's new. And so one of the things that humanity has been going through and why we seem to be stuck going through the same old, same old, is because the mind in its current state, it doesn't actually come up with anything new. It takes past experience, molds it together and produces a new idea, but it's not really new. It's a combination of everything you've just experienced already. But when you reconnect your heart center with your mind and infuse it with Source Intelligence, now you are creating brand new ideas.
Now you're getting inspiration of a brand new nature and your mind can move out of the maze of confinement into something bigger. You know, so that's pretty much, I hope that answers your question, but that's, that's the way I choose to describe it.
KYLE: But I also thought I created that question then somebody else asked me. You got that one from chat GPT. Come on.
LEAH: I thought it was brilliant. And then you were like, somebody else has them like, Oh, I was feeling all cool.

Past Lives & The #1 Mistake Spiritual Seekers Make (Identity)

Dave, I have a random question, but have you ever tuned into your past lives?
DAVY: I have. Yes. Yes, definitely.
LEAH: Is there anything you'd like to share? Is that of note? I'm curious.
DAVY: Well, I, you know what, what I'll say is this is that, yes, there've been some pretty interesting ones, although I wouldn't, yes, just I probably wouldn't want to talk about them. But you know, what I would say is that they have come up in response to having to clear things because I'll sit down and my teams will be there and I'll say, okay, right? This has come up. What is it? Okay, get yourself centered. You can see it clearly. Okay, I see it. And then you'll get this vision, this outplay of a past life.

You can, you can literally smell the environment. You can literally feel the sensations of what you're living through then. And yes, and what I would say to people as well, because when people have asked me that question as well, there's, is a little bit of a caveat to it, because a lot of people I've noticed, including myself when I first began, when you get these big, powerful past lives, oh, yes, I was such and such or something like that. Always. Yes, yes, I know that's the thing. No, it was the janitor.
And you know, in the beginning and the thing about it was my teams are saying, so they're saying, just sit with that for a second. Feel what you were feeling when you adopted this idea of who you were as a past life and why you adopted it is like, I was a such and such, I was this person or that person.
And it is just focus on that for a second, see what you see. And as I go on, I'm, and I get it, I get it, and they say, do you get it? Okay, they're saying the reason why you were so adhering to a past life is because there was a diminished level of Source level coming through. And so your value had to be obtained by identity. You were requiring past life identity, current life identity, you're attaching yourself to it to get a sense of yourself as if you were valued because I was this or because I do this.
And they're saying that's what you have to let go of because your true value. And this is not a cliché or it's not a feel good fact. And this is not just a buzzword. They're saying your true value is powerful in innate and it can never be replaced by any identity. They will only get in the way.
And they were saying that once you learn to feel your true self value, which you don't have to justify, and if you find yourself justifying it, it's not really what you're after because justifying it means you're a fruit, you have nothing to prove to yourself or anybody else. You are Source love intelligence. That is your value. It's innate. It's unlimited. And it will always be there and never went anywhere. We just chose to keep it down so that we could experience what it was like to experience lack of that love in existence. We're coming out of that

now. But what I find is what they were saying. One of the big hang ups that a lot of people get themselves into is they adopt so many identities and cling to it so hard.
And particularly in the spiritual community, because they were saying, one of the first things you start to unravel, as you jump onto the expansion bandwagon, is you start to lift up everything of the lack of worth that you have ever given yourself because that has to clear out. As it comes out, you're going to feel, Oh, God, I feel, ah I feel really bad about myself. You know, everything feels really shit. It's kind of like that. But then as that unfolds, what comes behind it, that living love light that replaced, ah, okay, I actually feel more peaceful now that's gone.
And I don't feel so attached to that identity. And one of the things that when I look to the word identity, if you look at the spelling, it spells dent in the middle of your two eyes and always leaves you asking with why at the end. In other words, what it does is it puts a dent right in your perspective because you're now blinded by the identity.
You think you're that when you're not you're what's in here. So once you blinded yourself, you have now lost perspective on yourself. Now you're asking, why? Who am I? What am I doing? What's going on here? All these other things come into it. And identity really is like a layer of concrete that just sits there and just stops you from really knowing who you truly are. And so when you ask that question, I really felt them say, just please talk and say that because that's important for people to understand that you know, it really is about that.
I mean, there are to your question, there are some things that I that I have had as past life. I'm not sure I'm so comfortable talking about the heat. But I think it really is important to really understand and I'd say this to anyone doing the spiritual path.
And I succumb to this in my early days as well. It's so cool to think, Oh, I was this, or I was that and so on. But when you settle down and you when my teams kept reminding you, no, don't go for fake value. That's not going to be what you want. You know, anything that you attach yourself to is not you. When you let go, when you are fully let go, the true you will be revealed and it reveals yourself itself to the more you let go. And so the more release you can have the more detach from identity personas.

And that can be anything. It could be past life, it could be a job. It can be being in a situation, a particular place people really identify themselves with their surroundings. When you fully let go of that girl, the more of yourself can reveal itself because you're getting rid of those layers.
LEAH: So that's a really important message, I think. I do too. And sometimes I think you need to go through some deep challenges to kind of shape it's so easy to just get so involved in your life and you become the person, which I feel like I spent some of the summer in the little cave of darkness. And one of the most delightful things is I just feel relieved from having to be like the character of myself. Yes. So nice. Just like it's sort of burning. It's like the deeper you get into it, then it's like you become this person in your life and then you're a caricature of your character of yourself. But I wanted to say about, well, what I really find interesting is that you have this profound shift where I mean, you really had another life and I'm so curious how you, I mean, you're talking about some pretty wild stuff and you were obviously a standard scientist character. So were you so inspired that you just didn't care? Was it very difficult and hard and you had to be courageous? How did you step out of your identity?

From Hardcore Scientist to Mystic: Dave's Full Awakening Story

DAVY: Yes, that's a good question. Back in the day, I mean, my mother was always very kind of spiritual in a way and we'd have these conversations where I'd do my whole science thing and just try and poo-poo who everything she was saying. And you know, I was like the other side of the fence, so to speak. And it was strange because from an early age, I always had such a drawn fascination to everything going on up there, space civilizations who's out there, what's out there seeing things around.
And you know, I just that always carried with me throughout my childhood growing up. And when I got to get into science, I really wanted my inspirations, I really wanted to peel back the covers to see how it was all working. What were the fundamentals? What was there any language? Was there intelligence behind it and so on? And so I went through there and I was very, very hardcore scientific. You know, I spent some time in the same department as Stephen Hawking for a year as well.

You know, I sort of walked around those kind of circles and you know, I don't say that to be bragging or anything. Just to give you an example of I was really focused on being a mainstream academic. I was really in on that. Now, what changed is when I, when I started to do my PhD, I was about maybe a year, a year, or maybe a little bit less than a year, and I think, and I was studying string theory. That was going to be my thesis. And I just want to, before I start, I thought, cool, this is the thing that everyone's doing. It's supposed to be like the unified field theory, like where it's all hanging out, you know.
And the more I dug into it, I thought, no again, not to be disrespectful, but the trouble with it is the more you probe into it, it just brings up far more questions than it answers anything and it just gets bigger and bigger. And it goes to me, in my perspective, it's actually not going anywhere. It's just a giant mathematical machine of a distraction. And so I thought, I'm not sure I'm going to go with this.
You know, I'm almost a year in, I've got another three years to go. I thought, okay, a bit of soul searching to do, but I didn't think of it in those terms. I wasn't aware of the high self or the soul I wasn't any, in any way into that kind of stuff at all. And so I went back to my dorm one day and I was just thinking about, I'm just going to do some searches on things, searching keywords like energy.
And I came across Tom Bearden's work, a legend who's now passed away and just reached out and said, hey I'm really interested in what you're doing because this is some cool stuff right here. And love it if you can get back to me. Next day he did and I was blown away and we became good friends and he sent me a ton of stuff and we started to collaborate and talk. And then I after I finished, let me see, what was it now? It was probably my, yes, my second year. So I was already corresponding with Tom and a friend of mine bought me a book.

And it was about all things sort of paranormal UFOs, remote viewing ESP, all whole, it's like a whole bunch of stuff. And he bought me a, because he knew I was interested in everything ET related and things. And I said, but then I would contain to this chapter about remote view. I thought, huh, what's this? I know I've heard of this before. I began reading. And these are very credible people that were doing this. I thought, Oh, he cow, you really doing this?
This is awesome. I want to try this, you know? So I hopped online to see if I could find anybody that was doing it. And there was this group that were some of them were part of the original program that developed this that was now coming out and doing civilian courses. So I thought, okay I'll try it see if it works and had this most profound experience straight off the bat, whereas a remote viewing of volcano, you don't know it's a volcano to start with.
You do the target blind for this when I was probing in the middle is massive rumbling in my ears, I could feel this hot liquid going over my body. And then suddenly you start to sort of bilocate and saturate with the target. And you start to visually start seeing visuals in the target. That was like, Oh, okay, put my pen down. That's a little too freaky. I can start. And went into the kitchen, sort of friend of mine in there and this rumbling and the fluid movement was still going on. I thought, is this going to go away?
Or is this if I can have to sit with this for a whole day or something? After about 10 minutes, it subsided. And I just said, bye to my friend. We're back into my dorm, flipped it over. And it was a volcano. I thought, wow, the sensorial data I was getting there, that that is not me fooling myself. That is a that was so intense and so visceral. That's exactly what was on the back of this photo. So anyway, so I had this experience, but that was the kickstarter for my intuition. I think my high self was kind of leaning me just to get me started just to come on, I'm here, come on, do that, do that, that's that'll kick you on. There we go.
And then so I did that. And then I went really headlong in by doing a course called played in light work by Amor in Aquarius, I believe it was. I'm not sure if she's still doing them anymore. This is way back in, let me see 2005, I think it was so about 20 years ago. And that was just jumping the deep end for sure.

And just got introduced to my high self, which really came in. And then it was like, right now we begin. And it was almost like all sorts of things broke loose. You know, it's just my high self was just dredging me of all this stuff and saying, right, pull that up, pull that out, get rid of that. And it was very intense. And I have to say in the beginning, it was very, very ultra-hard for me to the point where I almost at one point wished I'd never started it because the stuff coming out was really super intense.
I'm glad that I did go through with it because coming out the other side, you can really see the design behind doing that. And yes, so that really was. And then as soon as I made contact with my high self, there was no looking back from there it was daily just dredging, dredging myself doing, working with my high self and expanding. And they really, my high self really wanted me to get me super clear for the work that was to be going head, which is essentially what's happening now.
And so yes, it's, it's I'm happy to share that because I think it gives people hope and because I hear a lot of people all the time that are going through very difficult stuff all the time. I say, I hear you, I've been there, don't worry. You know, it's just part of the process sometimes. But the wisdom that I've gained by doing it, because I used to go through this stuff and it would last weeks and he thought, Oh, God, when is this going to end? You know, and you really are at your wits end with this stuff, you know.
But now when very dense, heavy stuff comes up, okay, my high self come in back to center. What is it? Okay, I can see it. Okay, begin the breaking down process. Wash it away. Anything else I need to know? No, good. Okay. And they just carry on with it. And literally within minutes to half an hour tops usually gone, you're back on your feet again. You know, so that is, I really wish to help people with that message just never forget your high self is there. Keep working with your high self is my recommendation. Keep knowing that your high self is ready whenever you request it and to work on things.

But there's a little wisdom that you need to know about what it is you need to request for them to break down and how to do it. And you'll be running after them.

What Is The Ultimate Purpose of Life?

LEAH: Why are we here? Oh, what are we doing on Earth?
DAVY: Oh, let's start in the short shallow end. Well it's a number of things to start at the very grandiose. I would say that this massive unfoldment and I always think of the word life LIFE is an acronym for Love In Forever Expansion. And life in itself to me is literally the intelligence of love expanding, experiencing and growing itself and developing. So amongst many things, I feel that being here on this Earth, because it's such a school of hard knocks is one way of looking at it you can learn and expand in leaps and bounds.
You know, if you make the right choices while you're here equally, unfortunately, if you make the wrong choices, you can also go harder, hard storm the other way. But, all in all, my perception, certainly from the teams that I work with and my higher self is that this is all about the intelligence of love and you know, I know that has some different connotations for different people. The word love means very many different things. It has the most beautiful qualities to it.

But ultimately, what I say to people love has those tremendous qualities we all admire compassion, kindness, sweetness, delight, all the beautiful things. But it also has, it is the most immense intelligence there is. It's the master physicist, it's the master chemist, it's the master everything. It created every subatomic particle all the way through to every galaxy, solar system and universe, multi-dimensional level, that is the level of intelligence you're dealing with. And that is the intelligence of love to me.
So to me, it really is all about that. How do we experience ourselves as love? How do we express it? How do we receive it and how do we grow as beings that luminesce that intelligence and how can we luminesce more? How can we synergize more? How can we grow the human form to be more acclimate to the intelligence of love and live that? And because when I see these high civilizations like the Arcturians or the Pleiadians, they have such a synergy with high dimensional cells that presence of love intelligence within them. They emanate that it just glows off of them. It's so beautiful, so serene. And I believe that's what they've communicated to me is that's where the human being is going.

So I guess in a very why not share your question? You know, I feel that that's where the human form is headed. We are being given this beautiful, fantastic opportunity to supercharge it all forward and to become the most immaculate. And I've used this phrase many times before. Energy transceivers, transducers and receivers in emitters of this very high intelligence love energetic. And that's all we're developing towards. But in order to do that, we've got to go through the puzzle piece solving the processing, the purging, or getting rid of everything that is not an alignment with that process. So that that in itself is a whole kind of worm scene of itself. I love it.
KYLE: I love it. Now, we've talked a lot today about a lot of different things Inner Earth beings, 3I Atlas, the big waves coming in December. I'm curious if there's anything else your guides want to share or have been talking to you about lately that you think's worth bringing up.

A Live Channeled Message from The Arcturians, Syrians & Pleiadians

DAVY: I can see them smiling. Yes, they're saying, okay, so there's a number of groups here. There's my high self, of course, the Arcturians are here. And interestingly, the Syrians are here. They don't often pop in publicly. And the plaiting zero too as well. And so, okay, do you have anything that you would like to share with the teams, sorry, with the guys and anyone listening? So they're saying, what is coming is truly profound. And they're saying there aren't any words that will really describe what it is.
They're trying to give an image of or a feeling of it. They're saying one of the things to human existence is you have been massively limited. Again, they're saying, as this one, they mean me, has mentioned about the bandwidth of your perception, how much energy you can actually perceive at any given time. They're saying the human vessel is moving into a state. Should you choose to allow it?

Where you will be able to perceive energetics, not just on this planet. They're giving me the impression of experiencing energetics across the solar system within the galaxy and beyond. They're saying the energetic abilities of the human form are that profound. And they're saying we are all very excited to see how humanity takes this. And they're saying, when we say grand experiment, we do not say that phrase lightly, they're saying. They mean it very much. But they're saying be jolly, be lightful, be light-hearted, play, make more time to be playful in your daytime.
And they're saying we remind you of this because many of you revere us for our advanced technologies, they're saying what this one calls living, living energy technologies. But the most important thing you can do, and that's coming from us, they're saying, is to be joyful, be playful, and be simple. And what they mean by that is be, don't over-complicate things with your minds. Your mind is a very powerful, beautiful instrument, but it can take you down rabbit holes that actually don't lean anywhere. And so they're saying the process of reorientating your mind back to your heart is a very beautiful and beloved one, and that is happening. And you can request for support from your high selves, your teams to enable that in a more deeper way as you wish. They're saying they stand ready.
But again, they're saying there are eyes from civilization on this planet that are ecstatic about what's happening here, because they're saying what you will, what you are doing as a human species has never been done like this before. This really, truly is a first. And they're saying the reciprocal effects of what is going to happen throughout this galaxy and beyond is going to be a delight to share with you. They're saying, so keep going. You are nearly there. And they're saying again, when we say nearly there, we don't mean that lightly either. Now they're saying there will be some upheaval. There will be those that resist. But again, it's a manifestation of their own kicking and screaming that is the outpouring overlaid with all of the levels of layers, they're saying, of ancient energy, historical energy, lineage energy, they're saying whatever you choose to call it, it's all coming out. And if people are susceptible to it, and they have synergy with it, it will attach itself to them, and it will play itself out within them.

And they're saying this is actually a part of their learning process to bring their awareness to the fact that they have a synergy with this energy and do they wish to keep it? Or do they wish to let it go and evolve beyond it? They're saying always see things in terms of how they help you, how they serve you, how they help your evolutionary process. They're saying, do not get bogged down in the minutiae of the when where's how's wise? Your path is very bright. It's very powerful. By being centered, this thing is this one has said and many others have said too, this is your stable point from which all of your power, your joy, your beauty, your serenity will flow.

Make that a simple practice each day to be in joy to connect with your center and do not get frustrated with yourself. If it does not meet your expectation of when and how you expect to get there, saying this is very important for humanity to understand. Each thing takes its own time according to your path. You see you have unique puzzle pieces you are solving, and each of you sometimes it takes longer in one stretch and sometimes it's shorter in another. Honor that it is your uniqueness, your own unique abilities that you are solving these unique puzzle pieces. And in doing so, you may observe that other people appear to be more centered than you are. Allow that and honor it. You are reaching your sentence in your way, in your own unique way as well.
Be gentle with yourselves. You have done immense profound work. There's a lot of energy that came through on that one. Sorry, I'm just going to settle myself out there. It was quite a way that came through on that one. They're saying if you could only see things the way we see it, the work you have done, the energies you have transformed and transconfigured they're using the words, it is profound. You are doing work in ways and at speeds that are unprecedented, they are saying. It would never normally be done this fast. This is rapid.

They're saying. And it's all part of this grand experiment and you are doing immaculately well, they're saying, please feel that within yourselves so that when stuff comes up, you can remind yourself, you are very, very much ahead of the curve. You are not expected to be this far ahead. Even say two decades or even a decade they're saying in your linear terms as we see it to be and you're exponentially expanding even faster in each moment. You are exceeding all expectations and it is a delight to watch. Please remember this. Go in peace. Remember that love is your center and the word of love, what it points to, is more profound than any word can ever describe, but love will suffice. That is it for now. Be well, we are with you.

KYLE: That was amazing. Is there any reason why the Syrians would have come through?

DAVY: Yes, that's interesting. I've worked with them in the past quite a lot because the Syrians have quite a big focus on energy science as well. They're quite a sciencey, why don't you go? And yes, so they have come in from time to time, but never publicly like that again. So privately, yes, they have come in before, but normally it's the Arcturians or the Pleiadians or the Source Intelligence or my High Self.

And okay, so they're saying at this time we and other groups like us are making ourselves known. We are trying to acclimate and bridge with people so that they can have a more of a sense and a feeling of their galactic brothers and sisters. And they're saying that even beings and civilizations that come far beyond our galaxy that are here, that are becoming involved in this whole process because they can see the waves that are being generated by being here. They're saying this really is very profound.

And they're saying in a sense, and not really saying the words, but the feeling I'm guessing from them is that we won't get a really full understanding of that until we've gone through these big things coming because it will become really clear to us just how profound this is, has been, and is going to unfold in as well. Okay, so is there anything else you'd like to finish off with or say or is no, that's it for now.

KYLE: They're saying that's it. That was amazing. Do you have anything else?
LEAH: I have five million other things. So how can our following get in touch with you, Dave and how can we support you?

How to Get in Touch with Dr. Clements' Work

DAVY: Yes, sure. Well, we have a number of different meditations, a lot of which are free on our Patreon channel. It is an ad-free platform, so we do ask a monthly subscription for personal activations to support the platform. We also have developed a series of devices in conjunction with our family up there, and which are to do with harmonizing environments, the stuff that we eat, the water we drink, it's a very advanced living energy technology. And also devices such as the QSC or the Quantum Stillpoint Clarifier, which is designed to work around you and develop an immense field around your environment to make energetic changes to further accelerate the evolution but also help you more in a more sort of accelerator or advanced way develop your own connection with your source point inside as well. So those are ways that people can support us if you wish to if you feel drawn to any of that. I always very keen for people to do things because they're drawn to them, not because of any other reason. But but those are the things that we do. There's more very cool innovations and stuff on the way, but we'll announce that as they get made. So but yes, that's pretty much pretty much it.
KYLE: Yes, links down below. And that that's awesome. Everybody check out that stuff. We want to check out the devices for sure. Well, thank you, Dave. It's been a pleasure. I'm so glad you finally got to meet. I know we've been talking about it for a while.
DAVY: Yes, definitely. It's lovely to meet you again as if you ever need anything, let us know. We're here.
KYLE: Awesome. Thank you so much, Dave.
DAVY: Thank you so much for inviting me on.
KYLE: And bye everybody.
DAVY: Bye-bye everyone.

For the sites, https://www.isee-infynergy.com/ is the ISEE site for protective innovations and https://infinitesourcecreations.com/ has the Quantum Still-point Clarifier device and the Quantum Earth Seeds innovations Also Dr Clements has kindly offered all viewers of this video a 5% discount on his products, just use the code GIFT255.